

Independent Director

Andrea De Tomas graduated in Law from the University of Turin and obtained a Postgraduate Master's Degree in International Private Law from the University Institute of European Studies in Turin.

He has been practicing law since 1996 and, over the course of his thirty-year career, has worked as a Partner with some of the leading national and international law firms. He has operated in various key areas of law, including banking law, financial law, capital markets law, NPL litigations, M&A (mergers and acquisitions), and bankruptcy law.

He currently serves as a Special Advisor in the banking law department at the law firm Pavesio & Associati in association with Negri-Clementi.

Andrea De Tomas is the author of several articles and publications on banking law and bankruptcy law.

